Where to Start?

Most people look for rentals by responding to classified ads, but don't forget about word-of-mouth. Ask your friends and acquaintances to let you know if they hear of an availability.

If you call about a rental and find it's no longer available, ask if the company is expecting an opening any time soon. Also, calling property management companies can save you a lot of time since they often manage multiple properties.

Print

Try to grab these publications as soon as they come out. Rentals go quickly.

Online

Increasingly, classified ads are found online more than in print. Your best bet is to call as soon as they are posted, so check these websites regularly.

Property Management Companies

These companies manage multiple properties including apartments, mobile homes, and foundation houses in Buncombe County and beyond. Property managers can provide you with a list of units that are within your price range. If you do rent from a property manager, you will pay rent and make any requests to the manager as you would to a landlord.

Property Listings

This guide includes many of the more affordable apartment complexes in Buncombe County, but it is not exhaustive. Also, it does not include stand-alone homes. Inclusion in this listing does not indicate that there are vacancies. Many of the most affordable properties have waiting lists that are months or years long, so plan ahead and apply right away. Two-bedroom units often have shorter waits than other sized units.

Note: Property owners, rents, income limits, and other details may have changed since this supplement was printed. Call the listing number for the most current information.
